Submission content: To whom it may concern I refer to the proposed draft Greater Sydney Regional Housing plan. I am extremely disheartened to note that 5 to 10% only has been suggested as a target for affordable housing for low and very low income families. It is unconscionable that such a small percentage is to be set aside, to say nothing of the fact that those on modest incomes who currently have little chance of surviving in the Sydney rental market, seem to be excluded altogether. This is important future planning. It is to be hoped that when the plan is finalised it will treat these disadvantaged people with more compassion and respect than is being proposed in the draft plan - they deserve better than this.
